

Avalara License Management

For Enterprises and Growing Businesses

A Business License Superstation

Avalara License Management enables companies to streamline their business licenses into one secure database, maintain it with workflow tools tailored to their needs, connect everybody from senior management to remote staff in one collaborative environment, help ensure their ongoing compliance with a dynamic calendar, and free up time they spend on repetitive tasks.

A Central and Secure Work Environment

Avalara License Management organizes a company's business licenses, location and entity details, and other pertinent data in a central database. In fact, users can centralize many disparate pieces of governmental compliance, such as seller's permits, tax registrations, workforce credentials, insurance certificates, annual reports, and more. This unified approach helps prepare you for rapid growth and the unexpected departure of key personnel.

Optional Add-On Modules

Professionals

Monitor details about professionally licensed employees.

Contracts

Manage and renew service-oriented or vendor contracts.

Vehicles

Track vehicle registrations and service records.

Leases

Track the terms of rented or subleased properties.

Violations

Process payments for citations and failed inspections.

A Workflow Tailored for You

Every company is unique. Your use case may involve constantly creating and dissolving legal entities (or it may not). Your departmental rules may demand notarization or controller approval (or they may not). You may want to bind many license renewals together for faster processing (or you may not). This is why Avalara License Management incorporates:

- Easy-to-modify workflow steps
- Customizable data fields
- Optional batching of licenses
- Editable page layouts
- And more

A Collaborative Platform for Everyone

With Avalara License Management, your colleagues can maintain business licenses assigned to them while management monitors their progress. It's not just your team that benefits though. Compliance often depends upon cooperation with other departments and even separate entities. Avalara License Management fosters this collaboration with:

- Task management
- A manager's dashboard
- Automatically saved work history
- In-app notes and messaging
- And more

A Proactive Calendar and Alert System

Proactively managing deadlines is invaluable to companies that see their business license portfolio expand to critical mass. With Avalara License Management, they can worry less about important tasks getting overlooked in spreadsheets with automated features such as:

- A dynamic renewal calendar
- Email alerts to stakeholders
- Monthly workforce inspections
- License, billing, and expense reports
- And more

A Way to Minimize Repetitive Tasks

When you can look at your business license portfolio as a clean roster of jurisdictions rather than a messy pile of paperwork, then you can reduce the time you spend on repetitive tasks and focus on your company's other needs. Avalara License Management makes this possible with:

- A nationwide license database
- Handy data fed to you when needed
- Bulk uploading and editing
- 1-Step renewals
- And more
